RECOLLECTIONS

FIRST YEAR:

frustrating, learning, trying, failing, passable, scary, exciting, aggravating, maddening, anxiety-provoking, new friends, awful, gross, fun, weird, nice, different, seemingly impossible — surprisingly possible, shi*$%!!!

SECOND YEAR:

getting better, writer's cramps, births, tears, happiness, OR-sore legs, late hours, scrubbing two layers of skin qd, first scrubbing, passing instruments, commuting everywhere, relatively exciting, snow storms, Clinics: gold star, Medicare-/Medicaid, temporary blue folder, useless classes, the real people with colds, headaches, etc., Psyche: "how do you feel about that?", acquiring psychotic/neurotic tendencies, milieu, impossible exams, psychotic breaks, severe depression, Pedi, kids, challenging instructors, sadness, playroom, field trips, hard, longs, comp care, NICU, Shriner's, IV meds — 60gtts/min., Maternity: loved it, early hours, the Green Line, "Laborious", deliverance, quick and speedy deliveries, am checks, meconium, babies, Fathers, families, A-service, Reva Rubin, syrian bread salads, midwifery, unbelievable!!!

THIRD YEAR:

long awaited, patient teaching, independence, NPN's, organization skills, setting priorities, patient communication, CAPPING, maintaining staff politics, Neuro- tough, relearning A & P, new experiences, having more than one patient, lots of clinical, goes by fast, finally!, anticipation, proud, happy, lots of responsibilities, increased self confidence, MEDS, 3-11:30, togetherness in the cafeteria, meeting people you didn't know just because you weren't in the same section first and second years, senior pictures, in September, parties, (TOGA), making plans, more realistic, still looking up patient assignments, 100 days, formal dance, more parties, coming to an end, graduation ... separation anxiety.

CHARLES STREET CINEMA (CIRCUS/ZOO/CARNIVAL)

Melanie Pierce

Welcome to Charles Street
You get a ring side seat
It runs twenty-four hours a day
No need to pay.

It's much like a zoo for those of you who are new
You get all kinds
  with or without minds.

Think of it as a Big Top
Where the show will never stop
People will always come
The rich man and the bum.

Our street attracts the criminally ill
  and it gets the elite from Beacon Hill
It gets the curious antique shoppers and far-out teeny-boppers.

You see ones with a lot of culture
And drunks picking garbage like a vulture
It has its fans from the Back Bay
And of course, the familiar fellows who are gay.

There's one side-show upon which you can rely
They wear black shoes and stockings in mid-July
We've been in this show for a hundred years
But for MGH student nurses, an end of an era is near.

People have wondered who could be dressed like that Especially with such a peculiar hat
They wouldn't know us in our black and white checks
If it weren't for the stethoscope 'round our necks.

With the hours we keep and all the devotion
We deserve recognition - we deserve a promotion
We work hard for three years - it seems like five
We get our diploma-congratulations if you're alive.

So early in the morning when it's dark and cold
We set out for work, we're pretty bold
We were comfy and cozy, but we left our beds at dawn
Because to the student nurse, the show must go on.

You turn the shower on and you feel the cold water
You wait and you wait but it doesn't get hotter
You wish to God you were back in your bed
But you gotta go give patient care instead.

After working all day on an eight hour shift
Walking down Charles Street can give quite a lift
But that's only when the weather permits.
Because otherwise, it is really the pits.

Sometimes we're fighting the winds and whirling snowflakes
And other times you'd swear you were swimming in the Great Lakes
But no matter the weather, we drag our tired bodies to and from the dorm
Through rain and sleet and many a winter storm.

We'll complain and cuss and put up a fuss
But we'll be proud of the insignia when they finally pin us
If by chance you don't agree, let this be consolation
At MGH you got a damned good education.

Well, the student nurses won't be around much anymore
And in a few years, Charles Street won't get to see an encore
But as the saying goes: "all good things must come to an end"
Remember MGH graduates, you'll always have a friend.

And the show on Charles Street will keep on playing
The audience will miss us, it goes without saying
Life here will keep on going
Long after MGH - SON's last showing.

They ran around the outside
Never jumping in.
Afraid of getting involved.
Afraid to begin.

They never tested life out,
Just let it pass them by.
Acting out their roles
They never even tried.

They missed the mainstream
Of the life they had to live,
Merely existing
Never having to give.

Try as they might
Going 'round and 'round,
Caught on the outside
Destiny bound.

Wishing for something
A purpose, a goal
Wasting their years,
They only grew old.

What would have happened
If they had jumped in?
Life might have had meaning,
But they'd have died in the end.

CLASS PROPHECY

In the year 2000, the president of the ANA met secretly with the WHO to discuss the first Space Cadet Nurse Clone Corps. The chosen corps would represent the pillars of society, perfect personhood and the most outstanding members of the profession. Upon interview, the M.G.H. graduating class of 1979 was chosen on the basis of their achievements:

After a successful student career in specialized bridge building Fred Begen left school to take over Phillip's House. He's doing such a terrific job that the name will soon be changed to "Fred's House".

Mary Boatright was last seen "cleaning the rooms of sailors aboard the U.S.S. Hope while they were out doing orbits and collecting the names of fictitious authors for the book, 1001 Things to do with Tune Fish.

"Catherine Burr", star of stage, screen and television is now appearing as "Rita Stableton" on T. G. L.!

Felicitas Burke is head nurse in a large German Hospital and gets paid extra for singing German lullabyes to critically ill patients.

Kathy Canarie, now recuperating from her third blepharoplasty is spending her free time researching the nutritional value of dry cake mix and popcorn. She is currently an I.V. nurse at M.G.H.

Martha Clarke, mild mannered and soft spoken graduate nurse dedicates her many miles of travel and provoked anxiety to her friends (?) in the Pedi Department. M.G.H. in return will reimburse her with a "78 cadillac.

Red Cross Director, David Codier, is busy forming a new group, "the Singing Resuscitators", who will be performing at the next meeting of the Boyscouts of America.

Still smiling and giggling, but as a head nurse in Utah, instead of as a student nurse III at M.G.H., one can find our Karen Coleman.

Bernie Conway spends most of her time lobbying on the White House steps. She is still as un-involved as ever.

Jan Coras is now employed by "Beauty and Hygiene Magazine" as a consultant with her own "Dear Janice"column.

Paul Craigie is successfully operating his own Ambulance Service and his dress code requires an M.G.H. baseball cap.

Anne Marie Craman is presently Unit Teacher on one of the Baker floors. She is currently working on her latest book, "The M.G.H. Way — the Only Way".

Nurse Curran turns actress to star in her own daytime soap opera, "Head Nurse at Starship General Hospital".

Vicki Cutter is now married to a successful business man, has three kids and still has all the beds made before 7:00A.M.

Joyce Derrick is working the 11:00 to 7:00 shift and is the only nurse known to administer medications while walking in her sleep.

Tony is Head Nurse Practitioner for B.H.W. and has been named, "King of the A.M. checks."

Nancy DiMarco is head Nurse of an ItalianIrish ortho clinic specializing in football injuries, a crash course on teeth and special "no nonsense elastic stockings."

Rose Dynan, an instructor at Lindeman, is still showing those "wild and crazy" patients how to boogie.

Sue Garrity "Van Winkle" has just awoken from a short nap (only twenty years in duration), and reports that as soon as she catches up on her sleep, she is leaving to become "Head" Nurse at Sleepy Hollow General on the West coast.

Beth Gibbons has been arrested and charged with doing only two loads of laundry a week!

Sarah Gleason can be found in her plush New York City office figuring the budget for the biannual "allergy relief fund".

Mary Guanci is Director of Nursing at Mount Auburn Hospital. She is often seen driving to work in a "Doherty's Driving School" car.

Beth Heinemann is a Head Nurse at George Washington Medical Center. Her Supervisor's only negative comment was "I wish she would take some of those plants out of her locker!"

Margaret Hill is known throughout the United States for having the biggest collection of Linda Ronstadt albums and Cosmo magazines. Husband Kenny commented, "she should win an award for the 'most soap opera watching' ".

Lorraine Hogan has begun her own combination Dancing and Nursing School. Her brillant hair is now down to her ankles.

Pam Horn recently wed Multie-millionaire Dr. Robert Lowe after leaving the Nursing profession. Before going to bed each night, "Miss P." checks the closet for strangers.

All of Lori Hyde's "horsing" around in nursing school finally paid off at 'Hyde's Home for Horses'. They have been riding her ever since.

Karen Laliberte-Murphy is still working on her husband's budget and balancing.

Contrary to popular belief, Marie Lally is still in Nursing. She is Director of Lally Matchbook Correspondence School of Nursing which grants a PhD and requires no previous nursing work.

Patty Lamsa is off on a six month trip to Bermuda where she plans to complete her latest book, The Wine Drinker's Guide to Losing Weight.

After giving great thought in following Elinore Moloney's footsteps, Maria Lawless has decided to become the fashion designer for Nursewear, and has made great success.

Eileen Leah has been married for fifteen years and her father can still be seen doing her grocery shopping.

Wendy Lusted has received her ten years of service award. She is the author of "Spritual Care" and plans to make the "great break" from M.G.H. for a full time ministry position.

The pleasant and congenial Maryellen Kelley, now a doctor, was last reported as having said, "If you can't get one; be one."

Ellen MacDonald, head of the President's Committee Against National Stupidity was recently seen on television, discussing some subject while heaving heavy sighs of disgust at the commentator who was interviewing her. Ellen's systems theory entitled "How to Organize Without Appearing To"was published in the Space Journal of Nursing.

Donna Marchese is now a very efficient and skillful E. W. nurse at her beloved M.G.H.

Mary McAuley has been named "mother of the decade", giving birth to six sets of twins, but she still manages to take EKG's regularly.

Deb McCarrick decided nursing was for the birds, she's now running her own "Animal House."

Mrs. G. McEnany, the wife of this notable psych clinician threatened seperation when Mr. G. made 'G Cheese" for dinner for the fourth straight week. Mr. G.'s only comment was- "it's the sweet mystery of life."

Bridget McGrath is currently employed in Singapore, after having founded the Merchant Marine Nurse Corps.

Sue McNeill after receiving her PhD in Nursing from Harvard, opened up a nursery school in the basement of her home. She serves popcorn daily to the kids and instructs them in jogging.

Somewhere among the crowd, Dona Melanson, was hopping up and down trying to get our attention. Dona, a geriatric specialist, as pretty as ever, is a much desired personage to be cloned, as the Division of Aereonotics needs nurses to fit into the small spaces within the capsules.

Carol Mescall when we last heard from her, she was walking alongside a witchdoctor at a cannibal camp someshere in the flatlands of Australia.

Cheryl Messenger's major activity since graduation has been at attempting to incoporate the nursing process into patient care in the backwoods of Ohio.

Mary Nunley has recently volunteered for the honorable position of President of the Flashers Annoymous Association, upon her retirement from 20 years of active duty with the Nay as First Lieutenant in Housekeeping.

Kathie O'Sullivan, now Mrs. Stevie Bomba has dedicated the remainder of her life to helping her E.M.T. husband get it right!

Holly Paradis has just opened up "Holly's House of Beauty" where she specializes in plucking eyebrows and performing amazing feats with her yellow curling iron.

Dr. Tricia Petsch, with her specialty in the psychiatric care of the African pygmies, has been heard to be enjoying her work in the jungle, even though "The don't have a coffee room!"

Melanie Pierce is living in the south of France and working as a school nurse. "Merde" is the word that best describes Melanie's memories of M.G.H.

Val Reynolds (alias dumb Auntie Val), presently Mrs. Billy Buckley is devoting the remainder of her life to finding the cause and cure of psychosomatic illnesses of student nurses.

Ann Rigby is running an ambulatory cowboy clinic somewhere in Colorado, where she plays Charlie Daniels and Lynard Skynard tunes to her patients for therapy.

Ann Ronukaitis, part-time nurse and Cosmetic Consultant at Pharma-city has recently been appointed as Director of Activity and Entertainment at the Pub-n-Grub.

Alas, Barbara Russell has recently returned from a cross-continent tour where she released her new book, How to Write Term Papers the Day You Hear About Them, Rumor has it that her sequel, Don't Forget to Proofread Your Paper will be out soon.

After having delivered her 20,0000th child in East Bujumbura, Mary Santerre plans to pack up her sailboat to West Dierra Leon where 9000 pregnant women wait with bated breath, for her arrival, with speculum in hand.

Mary Pat Savinelli is living in Hawaii and working during the week as a stewardess for Pan Am and on weekends as a bartender at the Sheraton Maui.

Beth Scanlan is head of her own Midwifery program in Ireland using cows as practice for students.

Dr. Kathy Shea M.D. is currently breeding coackroaches in a search for prevention of Salmonella posioning. However, she still takes her annual sick leave every April.

Diane Sherman now owns and manages her own chain of nursing homes named, 'Diane's Delights'. This year she was given the honorable title "Queen of Geriatrics."

Linda Small is presently employed by "weight loss clinics" and has been engaged thirteen times.

Stephanie Steranko can be found at the Dan Fogelberg Memorial Clinic in the great Western Rockies. She reports that the clinic offers such programs as Cross country skiing, plant nursing, and good times.

Mrs. R. Ryan (former Eileen Sullivan) is sole owner of "Sullivan's Saloon", the hottest spot in Boston. She owes much of her success to her head waitress, E. Smith.

Kathy Sullivan, popcorn queen and author of 6,000 ways to Prepare Carrots, has recently graduated from Yale University with a PhD in nursing. Kathy is still known for her Irish Jig.

Kate Surman is the first R.N. to be named a four star general in the U.S. armed service.

Rose Sweeney is having another one of her social gatherings at her wild and crazy apartment. Rumor has it that Steven Martin and Harold Melvin will be making guest appearances.

Sue Temple is quite busy at the Equestrian Health Care Center. Many of her teaching projects revolve around symptomalogy of horse-human communicable diseases.

Sue Thibault, in between naps, telling bad jokes and keeping up with the latest dirt, is presently working in allergy research, while investing most of her income in Kleenex.

There was a stir of excitement as Jeanne Tomolillo was tuning up her guitar. Jeanne treated us with a demonstration of her much publicized children's music therapy theory.

Mary Toomey has become a millionaire overnight by writing her own "Disco Duck" book and record.

Rose Tucci who now weighs in at 250 lbs. owns Mama Rosallia's Pizzera; all those hamburgers and chips must have paid off.

Because of her terrific sense of humor and her ability to really listen to people's problems, Susan Winters has just been voted the "Most Congenial Nurse of 1999".

Sarah Pitman is seen daily riding a horse to work in the four bed hospital her husband built.

Barbara Bowers continues to exit her swanky New York City job promptly at 12:30 p.m. for a diet salad and rendezvous with "Ryan's Hope".
